

Bridget offers breakthrough thinking for America's, and Oregon's, Third Century. Come hear her assessment of Oregon politics and what we can do about it!

Besides being a principal at the public affairs company, Third Century Solutions, Barton is also a director of ActionPAC and the new non-profit Oregon Pathfinder. Both organizations seek to improve the business climate and economic outlook for Oregon. In 1997 Barton founded BrainstormNW. From 1997-2009, Bridget Barton served as editor, business manager and part owner. During its 12-year run, the magazine earned its tagline, "BrainstormNW – the magazine for Northwest decision makers."

Prior to her move into publishing, Barton was a free lance writer and columnist, contributing to local, statewide and national media. From 1994-96, Barton worked as a policy analyst, specializing in education policy, for Cascade Policy Institute. Barton has been a frequent guest on numerous talk radio and TV programs. She has also worked on a number of successful regional and statewide candidate and ballot measure campaigns.
