

As you know, Oregon's primary election wrapped up yesterday. As the Republican Leaders in the Oregon House and Senate we have been working for months recruiting the best candidates, meeting with Oregonians in every corner of the state, and laying the groundwork for this moment.

Today's Oregonian article about the election shows the tipping point we're at:

Liberal Democrats' primary wins could push Oregon Legislature further to the left

“The vote also set the stage...in November’s general election, as Democrats attempt to win a supermajority and Republicans do their best to block them. Democrats need to pick up just one seat in the House and Senate to achieve the three-fifths supermajority necessary to pass bills raising revenue without Republican support.”

With just ONE seat in each chamber separating Democrats from the ability to pass any tax they want, we are fighting to retain every seat and gain even more to protect Oregonians from taxes like these:

Gross Receipts Tax - Democrats tried twice to pass this tax on sales. In 2016 voters rejected Measure 97 and just months later, Democrat leaders attempted to pass gross receipts legislation, but failed because of Republican opposition. The third time could be the charm if they gain a supermajority.

Carbon Tax - this tax is a top priority for the majority party and would increase your cost for electricity, natural gas and gasoline.

Sales Tax - rejected 2 times by Oregonians, they could even pass a sales tax without one Republican vote.
